“ Vicki-

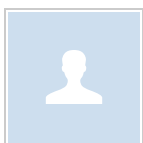

It was nice to visit with you at your Dad's house on Monday.

As I mentioned I had met your father at an auction years ago, and had become good friends. I would stop to visit with him when I drove by and seen his shop door open. We would talk sometimes for a couple hours. He was a good man and I will miss him. I lost my father last Jan. and I know what you are going through, and how hard it is to tie up all the loose ends following a death.

Time will help the sorrow, but there will always be a hole in our hearts that is never filled again. This to me is a good thing because it is where we keep all our memories.
